

Manhattan Neighborhood Network's Documentary Storytelling Intensive

COURSE INFO SHEET

This 10-week documentary intensive gives Manhattan residents and New York-based independent producers the opportunity to learn how to produce a 3-7 minute documentary. Students will learn how to script, plan, shoot and edit a mini-documentary. Students will also learn advanced composition and image control techniques along with strategies for capturing the best sound in the field.

This course will not teach students basic camera operation or editing skills. Students will be provided with MNN's professional field camera Sony Z150 during the course. Out-of-class assignments, field shooting and editing hours will be required. Students must supply their own SD cards, headphones and Mac-formatted hard drive to store and edit their media.

Before applying, please make sure you are available for all sessions noted below. There will be no opportunities to make up a missed session and there will be a substantial amount of required out-of-class time needed to complete your documentary. Please do not submit an application for this course if you know there will be conflicts in your schedule.
